Approved: Brenda Colgan, Chairperson ORC

Offaly Rowing club does not organise transport to events for its members.

Junior members are transported to and from events and training by their parent/guardian. Offaly Rowing Club does not organise 'lift sharing' and any such arrangements entered by the members are done so solely at their own risk. Offaly Rowing Club can't accept liability for any incidents arising from any such arrangements.

The boat trailer has historically been towed by members with a suitable vehicle and licence and the driver remunerated by those attending the event. The club will estimate the cost of such trips based on engine size, mileage and distances covered. This cost will be divided evenly between those attending the event and will be communicated to them prior to travelling. The rower's share of expenses must be paid prior to the event.

Failure to pay will result in the member being excluded from the next competitive event.

A separate document detailing the statutory regulations for towing the trailer will be issued.

This policy may be subject to change or be updated, it is the member's responsibility to familiarise themselves with this policy or any updates to same.
